2018 | Strategic Plan Licking County Health Department

Introduction

In order to protect public health in Licking County, and address the most significant, data driven public health issues in the county, the Licking County Health Department (LCHD) has developed this strategic plan. The plan is designed to increase the impact of LCHD on the community it serves, and to advance public health initiatives into additional sectors of the public health system. As one of the first nationally accredited health departments in the country, LCHD has a duty to lead and provide high quality public health services to its constituents. The department is dedicated to this task, and the contents of this plan will set the path for LCHD to improve and protect the public health of all Licking County Residents.

Mission and Vision

LCHD's Mission: Prevent Disease, Protect the Environment, and Promote Healthy Lifestyles

LCHD's Vision: Healthy People in Healthy Communities

Core Values

- I. Credible
- II. Collaborative
- III. Innovative
- IV. Integrity
- V. Responsive
- VI. Respectful

Health Disparities and Inequities

LCHD is dedicated to addressing health disparities and inequities within Licking County. Individuals that experience lesser health outcomes simply because of where they live or because they don't have the ability to travel to a healthcare provider must be assisted to overcome these items. LCHD has discussed adopting a Health In All Policies approach with elected officials and agency heads throughout the public health system in its jurisdiction. This will allow these individuals to not be forgotten as project and plans are discussed. Additionally, LCHD proposes in this plan to offer mobile public health services and additional satellite clinics in areas where disparities and inequities exist. This is an effort to remove barriers such as a lack of transportation and a lack of funds to utilize LCHD's services. This will be a change in the traditional manner in which LCHD conducts business, but it's a necessary change and one that will assist the department with reaching the people that need its services the most.

Efficiency and Effectiveness

LCHD continues to work to find ways to improve efficiency and effectiveness through the implementation its performance management system, which includes the use of quality improvement methodologies and tools to make necessary process improvements. The department has worked to develop performance measures in each division that allow the most important process and programs offered to be tracked on a regular basis. Targets for the programs have been set, and if they are not met, further evaluation is done to determine the root cause and necessary improvements are made. The development and growth of the performance management system has assisted with LCHD identifying efficiencies within its operation, and as a result better serving its customers.

Making processes efficient is a noble undertaking, but if the processes are not effective, the improvements will be wasted. LCHD evaluates its programs on a regular basis to determine their effectiveness and to determine if they are resulting in the desired outcomes. If a program is found to be underachieving, the workplan is revised and an improvement is made. Protecting public health in Licking County is LCHD’s priority, and this cannot be done if the programs the department implements do not achieve their desired outcome.

Strengths, Weaknesses, Opportunities, and Threats (SWOT) Analysis

LCHD conducted a SWOT analysis with its staff and the Board of Health. Doing so allowed the department to gain a variety of perspectives on its operation and how it should move forward to best serve its constituents.

Emerging Issues Influencing Public Health

The most significant issue that has emerged affecting public health in Licking County is the substantial increase in substance abuse. Licking County is not unique, and health departments across the country are attempting to combat this issue. Most associate substance abuse with the abuse of opioids, however this issue spans well beyond opioid abuse. Focusing on only one portion of this problem will not make a significant impact, and would not allow LCHD to properly serve its constituents. Clear evidence that this issue continues to emerge and evolve is demonstrated by the fact that substance abuse was chosen as the number one priority in the county’s Community Health Improvement Plan. This is the first time the issue has been included in the plan, and it’s also the first time it has even been mentioned by members of the Community Health Improvement Committee. LCHD has included this issue in this strategic plan, and the department will continue to implement programs to address substance abuse and collaborate with partners to lessen the impact of this issue within Licking County.

An issue that is related to substance abuse and that is an emerging concern is undiagnosed and/or untreated mental health concerns. Specifically, undiagnosed and untreated anxiety and depression have been identified as precursors to substance abuse, and they are continuing to increase within the county. Historically, public health departments have not been heavily involved in addressing mental health issues. However, it’s time for that to change. Mental health issues compound and expand public health concerns, and LCHD is dedicated to partnering with its mental health partners to address these issues. Doing so will not only strengthen the public health system in Licking County, it will also improve public health and the quality of life of county residents.

Tobacco, specifically smoking, has been a long standing public health concern in Licking County. In fact, reducing the adult smoking rate is LCHD’s overarching strategic goal. However, over the past several years the use of E-cigarettes has increased, and they are viewed as a safe alternative to traditional cigarettes. Data has shown that teenagers are increasingly using E-cigarettes and this is a troubling trend. LCHD has identified the use of E-cigarettes as an emerging concern, and the department is working to develop strategies to combat this issue in the county.

LCHD will address these emerging issues, and it will continue to collect, analyze and report data to identify additional emerging issues in the future. Local health departments need to be flexible and vigilant regarding these issue in order to best respond and protect public health within their jurisdictions. Continuing to grow and strengthen collaborations is also vital to these efforts. Working together with the public health system provides the best opportunity to confront and solve these emerging threats.

External Influences

There are several issues occurring within Licking County that will affect public health and how LCHD operates in the future. The most significant is the development along the State Route 161 corridor in the western portion of the county. This has been an issue that has been discussed for several years, however development along the highway is now taking shape. Questions need to be answered regarding if the new housing stock and commercial entities will reside within LCHD's jurisdiction or be annexed into the city of New Albany. If the development occurs within LCHD's jurisdiction, an influx of revenue can be expected in the plumbing and food safety programs. This will also result in an increase in the population served, which will increase the state subsidy funds received from the Ohio Department of Health. It will also mean an increased work load for staff within these programs and may result in a shift in responsibilities for staff working in other EH program areas.

Additionally, there is the possibility that development along the State Route 16 corridor in Madison Township could occur. This would result in additional workloads for EH program staff as well, but the population growth will provide LCHD with an opportunity to serve and impact more people. Opportunities will be created for programs such as LCHD's cessation program, immunization clinics, and other programs. The development and population increase are definite opportunities increase LCHD's impact on the community, but they also present challenges. With additional population comes additional risks for disease outbreaks, unhealthy behaviors, demands for services, and other issues. LCHD has to plan for these potential items and be ready to respond if and when these issues occur.

LCHD and The Community Health Improvement Committee

The Licking County Community Health Improvement Committee (CHIC) was formed in 2010. LCHD staff have chaired the committee since it was founded. The committee has developed 3 editions of the county's Community Health Improvement Plan (CHIP). This collaborative effort has seen multiple entities outside of LCHD take the lead on a variety of projects and be responsible for completing them. Doing so has allowed LCHD to include several items that it is responsible for in the CHIP and include them in this plan. This confirms their importance and guarantees they will be tracked to ensure they are completed within the required timeframes. Working in collaboration with CHIC partners also provides LCHD with the opportunity to identify goals and objectives regarding items outside of the CHIC's scope, but that are also public health concerns within the county. CHIC members have accomplished a great deal during its 8 years of existence, and LCHD looks forward to continuing to collaborate with the group to improve public health in Licking County.

Performance Management and Quality Improvement

LCHD began incorporating quality improvement (QI) into its operation in 2010. Since then, the department has grown its program and it now uses 2 QI methodologies, LEAN and PDSA. Staff have also completed a minimum of 2 QI projects each year. LCHD continues to move toward a culture of quality throughout its operation. Each division within the department has completed projects, and projects are currently scheduled through 2019. Implementing QI tools and principles has allowed LCHD to find efficiencies that have saved taxpayer dollars and resulted in an increased level of service for its customers.

LCHD was accredited by the Public Health Accreditation Board in 2013. One weakness that was identified was the department's Performance Management (PM) program. Since 2013, LCHD has worked to refine and improve its PM program, and this has resulted in the department being looked at as a PM leader among its peers in Ohio. The program is still improving, but each division is tracking performance metrics on a monthly basis and the department's Quality Council reviews the data on a monthly basis as well. QI projects are selected based on PM data, and they are implemented by relevant staff. The department is in the process of combining its PM and QI plans into one document, which will assist with reaching a true culture of quality throughout the department.

QI and PM are important topics at LCHD, and this shown by goals and objectives being included in this plan for both topics. This inclusion allows the PM and QI plans to be integrated with the strategic plan, which cements their importance and shows their importance to the department's staff. This will be the case as additional strategic plans are developed, and as the QI and PM plans are combined the plan will be updated.

Evaluation

The strategic plan will be evaluated on an annual basis. This will include tracking progress towards the goals and objectives contained in the plan, and updating based on the evaluation and the identification of additional emerging issues. Plan progress will also be reviewed on a monthly basis by the department's Leadership Team. The team will discuss progress toward the goals and objectives and recognize excellent progress and determine necessary changes for items behind schedule. This will be a more intensive evaluation of the plan than in the past, but as the department has learned and evolved
