

Licking County Health Department | Food Safety Program

2022 ServSafe Manager Exam Only Schedule ($50)

Manager Certification in Food Protection

Licking County Health Department's food safety program staff administer and proctor ServSafe Manager Course Examinations for those individuals needing to re-take the exam after completing our ServSafe Manager Course. Individuals who have completed the ServSafe Manager Online Course (7th Edition) can also take our proctored examination, provided they supply us their certification of online course completion. If a passing examination score is achieved, the following certificates will be issued: ServSafe Manager Course Certificate issued by ServSafe, and Manager Certification in Food Protection issued by the Ohio Department of Health. The Ohio Uniform Food Safety Code states that all Risk Level III & IV food facilities must have one employee with supervisory and management responsibility who has obtained a Manager Certification in Food Protection Certificate.
